The diagram shows a tournament bracket. On the left, there are four rows of player information. The first two rows (1 and 2) are grouped together by a vertical line. The next two rows (3 and 4) are also grouped together by a vertical line. A horizontal line connects the two groups, leading to a central vertical line. From this central line, a horizontal line extends to the right, leading to a final vertical line. This final vertical line is labeled 'Vainqueur' (Winner).
